THE party that must look upon the generally prosperous condition of the country as a menace to its political prospects, is in a unfortunate condition deserving of sympathy, but a sympathy which should be devoted to efforts at reformation and not of indorsement at the polls.

THE country is not yet ready to turn over the chair which has been filled by such statesmen and patriots as Washington, Lincoln, Grant and Harnison to one who appeals lor support on account of his record against most of the wise legislation that has been exacted zer, since the that has been enacted ever since the boy orator commenced to figure in politice.

DEMOGRATS pretend to say that if foreign built ships are admitted to American register then American subpublicars will build all the ships the carriage of our foreign commerce employs, while Republicans stand fast in support of the statute which has, since the foundation of our Government, reserved American registry. ernment, reserved American registry for American built ships.

THE general prosperity of the far-mers in all parts of the country, North, South, East and West, result-Norta, South, East and West, resulting from good crops and good prices is a legitimate vote maker for the Republican party. The Lords gave the good crops and the Republicans gave the good markets, and no amount of political misrepresentation can deprive either of the credit due.

RUSSELL SAGE is not satisfied with the present prosperity. He complains with bitterness that "money is a drug on the market now." In the hard times of the Cleveland Administra-tion Mr. Sage could lend out his money with usury. Now he has to compete even with the farmers of the West, who have become lenders of West, who have become lenders of money where they used to be borrow-ers. No wonder he is dissatisfied with McKinley prosperity.

CERTAINLY there were no more gal-lant soldiers in the War than General

CRETAINLY there were no more gallant soldiers in the War than General STERROH LEE and others whose names are known throughout the country. With such a record in bringing on the war and fighting it to a successful sissue why the South should oppose President MCKINLEY for attempting to secure the results of the War is more than can easily be understood. On the issue of Imperialism the South stands with MCKINLEY. Why should not support him?

A FEW years ago the South did practically no manufacturing. If now has over $1,000,000,000 - one shippoly, $0,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 in the stands of the War is more than the South stands which the south results of the War is more than the South stands with MCKINLEY. Why should have been in the followed catastrophic with the stands of th

McKinley's Administration?

The Supreme Court fell under the displeasure of the Democratic party because it would not declare Constitutional a piece of partisan legislation, and their party vented its anger by trying to belout the ermine of the highest and purest Court the world has, ever known. TERRIBLE WORK OF THE HURRICANE

A Graphic Account of the Horrible Ca-tastrophe by a Newspaper Man and an Eye-Witness.

Wreck Brought About by a Tempest and a Flood Which Turned Gaives-ton Into a Raging Sea,

Houston, Tex., Sept. 11. Spillane, a well-known newspaper man and correspondent in that city, who reached Houston Monday after a terrible experience, gives the fol-lowing account of the disaster at Gal-veston:

lowing account of the disaster at Galveston:

One of the most awful tragedies of modern times has visited Guiveston. The city is in ruins and the dead will probably number 1,500. I am just from the city, having been commissioned by the mayor and citizens committee to get in touch with the outside world and appeal for help, the country of the country

The Velocity of the Wind.

The weather bureau records show that the wind attained a velocity of similes an hour when the measuring instrument blew away, so it is impossible to tell what was the maximum. The storm began at 2 colcoke Saturday morning. Previous to that a great storm had been raging in the guif and the tide was very high. The wind at first came from the north and was in direct opposition to the force from the guif. While the storm the baseh side of the city, the north wind piled the water from the bay on to the bay part of the city. About noon it became evident that the city was going to be visited with diasater. Illumérals of residences along the beach front were burriedly shannloued, the families feeling to dwellings in higher portions of the clay. Every home was opened to the refugees, black or white. The wind was rising colsiuntly and it rained in torrents.

THE CITY SUBMERGED.

The wind was so fierce that the rain cut like a knife. By 3 o'clock the waters of the bay and gulf met, and by dark the eatire city was submerged. The flooding of the electric light plant and the gas plants left the city in darkness. To go upon the streets was to court death. The wind was then at cyclonic velocity; roofs, graph pores and walls were falling, and the noise of the wind and the remaining of the buildings were terrifying in the extreme. The wind and waters rose stendily from dark until 1:45 o'clock Sunday morning. During all this time the people of Gaiveston were like rats in a trap. The highest portion of the city was four to five feet under water, while in the great majority of the cuses the streets majority of the cuses the streets feet. To leave a house was to drown. To remain was to court death in the wreckage.

A Night of Agony.
Such a night of agony has seldom been equaled. Without apparent reaanon the waters suddenly began to subside at 1:45 a. m. - Within 20 minutes they had gone down two feet, and before daylight the streets were
